Orcutt, CA, August 25, 2009 – Insight Management Well Positioned for Rebound in Domestic Drilling

Insight Management Corporation (OTC BB: ISIM), a company focused on the domestic oil and gas industry, and which recently acquired, Rebel Testing, Inc. (RTI), as a wholly-owned operating subsidiary, are anticipating an improved environment for natural gas and oil field service companies that should result in significantly better results later this year. "This is an exciting time for our company," noted CEO, Jennifer Rapacki. "We have made considerable progress this year in positioning our company for an expected uptrend in oil and gas drilling and subsequent demand for well servicing."

The momentum behind clean energy solutions including natural gas for powering vehicles and generating power appears to be building. Efforts like those of T. Boone Pickens, Al Gore and other leaders have led to legislation that is moving through the U.S. Congress. As reported on CNBC's website (www.cnbc.com), Tom Brennan (August 13, 2009) "Buy Fuel Systems Solutions?" wrote, "If passed, the NAT GAS Act, as it's called, would extend the tax incentives for those who installed nat-gas refueling pumps by 18 years, double the tax credit for liquefied nat-gas trucks, create a tax credit for companies that produce nat-gas vehicles and require half the vehicles that the federal government produces to run on the fuel."
